Jane Ziegelman is the award-winning author of 97 Orchard: An Edible History of Five Immigrant Families in One New York Tenement and, with her husband Andrew Coe, A Square Meal, winner of a James Beard Award.

Her newest book, Once There Was a Town: The Memory Books of a Lost Jewish World, explores the remarkable world of yizkor books—memorial books created largely by Holocaust survivors to preserve the memory of the Jewish towns, or shtetls, of Eastern Europe.

Through these extraordinary books, Ziegelman brings to life the communities, traditions, everyday experiences, and stories of the people who inhabited this world.

Her talk is a powerful exploration of memory, history, and the resilience of a people who refused to be forgotten.
